

The writings of Barbara Pym

Index

compiled by Hazel K. Bell

Note: Titles of works of literature, and quotations, are listed in the index under the names of their authors, except for those of Barbara Pym, which are entered under their titles.

For topics, products, places and characters, indication is given only of the novels they appear in, with page numbers of their first appearance and maybe some selected others. Only the opening page numbers may be given where references extend over several pages.

Characters are listed under their surnames if given; otherwise the forename is entered in the index; minor characters with forenames only may be omitted. Bold type indicates the novels in which they are main characters.

References to the volume of Barbara Pym's diaries and letters, A Very Private Eye, are included only if the items also appear in her other works. References to these, and to her radio talk of 1978, 'Finding a Voice', are underlined.
